

Course Overview

Obstetrics and Gynecology Nursing

Course code :	NMT706
Course title:	Obstetrics and Gynecology Nursing
Level/semester:	Seventh Semester
Credit hours:4	Theoretical: 3
	Practical: 2

تعريف موجز بالمقرر: الهدف العام له هو تطوير المهارات العلمية في تمريض النساء والتوليد ويركز على أفراد الأسرة أثناء فترة الإنجاب للأطفال وسوف تعطى للطلبة فرص لرؤية الخبرات العملية لدور التمريض في هذا المجال ومن المتوقع بعد دراسة هذا المنهج إن تستطيع الطلبة دمج قاعدة المعلومات الخاصة بالمناهج النظرية لتمريض الأمومة وتطوير الاتصال مع مقدمي الرعاية الصحية لتسهيل عملية الرعاية الصحية لهؤلاء الأمهات .

Goal: To provide the necessary knowledge, attitudes and skills to allow students to work effectively with pregnant women and with women with gynaecological problems

General Objectives
On completion of this module students should be able to:
1	Demonstrate an understanding of the health needs of women prior to conception and the basis for pre-pregnancy care
2	Explore the concept of women as the focus of health care during pregnancy
3	Describe the anatomy and physiology underpinning conception and gestation
4	Identify the principles of nursing care throughout pregnancy and during child birth
5	Identify the principles of nursing care necessary during labour and delivery
6	Identify the principles and priorities of nursing care management during the post natal period
7	Describe the priorities of care of the newborn infant
8	Demonstrate sensitivity to the care needs of women who experience problems in pregnancy including stillbirth, miscarriage and termination